Canada Backs Big Three On Berlin Status Stand

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker Wednesday threw Canada's weight behind the Big Three rejection of Russia's demands for altering the status of West Berlin.

He told a luncheon meeting of some 150 at the Sir John Franklin High School that serious days lie ahead for the Western world as threats by Russia become more ominous.

He said one wonders about the days ahead.

Mr. Diefenbaker referred to increasing international tension over the Berlin crisis. He earlier announced a federal stalking program to encourage prospectors to search for new mineral deposits in the Canadian north.

Earlier in the day he conferred privately with the local Progressive Conservative Association. John Winter, association secretary and defeated Progressive Conservative candidate in Mackenzie River in the 1958 general election, said the meeting was held to enable Mr. Diefenbaker to meet members of the association.

Mr. Diefenbaker's trip to Uranium City and here has taken on a definite air of pre-election campaigning. It is not likely that he would have time to visit the far north during an election campaign and he is using this opportunity to meet and talk to people.

Commenting on the new note to Russia by the United States, as "marvellous."

Britain and France, Mr. Diefenbaker said the Western world has made clear to Russia its attitude to a problem that affects the future peace of the world. If there ever was a time when unity was needed between the Western powers it was today.

The free world had made clear to Premier Khrushchev that it was prepared to continue to negotiate on the West German and Berlin issues to obtain a lasting peace. But it had also made clear that its pledged word to West Berlin would be kept, and that the people of West Berlin would be assured of their freedom, a basic requisite to the maintenance of peace, he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker was obviously pleased over the wording of the Big Three notes. He later described the notes to reporters as "marvellous."

'Evens' On Astronaut's Flight

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Weather threatened today, for the third time, to wash out astronaut Virgil Grissom's ride into space on a Redstone rocket.

A report from the United States space agency weather team indicated no better than a 50-50 chance that the rocket could be launched at 7 a.m. Friday as now scheduled. Clouds halted the first two attempts Tuesday and Wednesday.

Some 5,000 men involved in the "man shoot" stood by waiting for a "go" or "no go" signal.

Another weather briefing on Friday's attempt was set for midnight, but weather again may lead to frustration.

Run-Away Roller Man Stays With It

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP) — A 26-year-old steamroller driver stayed at the wheel today when his 10-ton machine rolled out of control down a steep street toward a crowded downtown intersection.

Crazed Man Runs Amok In Hospital Gun Battle

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A former mental patient grabbed a policeman's revolver and began shooting at 15 persons in the receiving room of city hospital today.

Two policemen were wounded and the gunman was killed in a running gun fight with another officer.

Police said the dead man, Richard Shackelford, about 66, was identified by a relative as a former mental patient. The relative didn't know why Shackelford was at the hospital.

Cpl. Raymond Oberlin, 46, shot in the groin, was reported in critical condition. Patrolman Virgil Page, 51, was wounded in a leg.

At least four policemen were among the 15 persons in the receiving room of the hospital when the shooting began at 12:30 a.m.

Patrolman Earl Marshall and Roland Williams, 31, were sitting at desks writing reports on persons they had brought to the hospital.

Police said Shackelford suddenly jumped up from a seat, snatched Marshall's revolver from its holster, ran to the outer door, turned and began to fire wildly.

No War On Berlin — Brandt

BERLIN (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin said today he believes there will be no war over his divided city.

"I hope not and I believe not," he told a press conference. But he added it would be frivolous not to consider the possible consequences of the present situation.

Brandt said that in the first 18 days of this month, 15,624 refugees had registered in West Berlin. This is about double the average rate. There were also many thousands who did not register. About 2,500,000 have come since 1949, he added.

Brandt said Communist charges that the refugees are being lured away to the West is propaganda.

He denounced what he called the "incompetence and shabbiness" of the East German Communist regime. This was shown, he said, by its supply crisis, the flight of the refugees and its action against the big Church rally now going on in Berlin.

Boy Climber Found Dead

SQUAMISH (CP) — A 16-year-old boy, injured when he was struck by an avalanche Tuesday on nearby Mount Garibaldi, was found dead on the 7,000-foot mountain today.

Frank de Bruyn's body was found after a companion guided a search party to the scene. The search began Wednesday when James Fowler, 18, staggered into this town 30 miles north of Vancouver and told how de Bruyn and James Hebl, 18, had been tumbled down the mountainside by an avalanche.

Hebl, incoherent and in shock, found his way down from the mountain Wednesday. Fowler, in an RCAF helicopter, guided searchers to the scene of the accident.

CURIOSITY LEAD TO DEATH FOR TWO KITIMAT BOYS

KITIMAT (CP) — Boyish curiosity led to the deaths of two youngsters at the Kitimat Indian village Wednesday.

Like most of the children in the village the two eight-year-old boys were fascinated by the gravel truck, believed to be the first large vehicle ever in the community.

Roger Green, Herbert Gray and a third boy hitched a ride on the truck by hanging on to the side, out of sight of the driver as he headed down a narrow road close to houses.

When the boys saw that a porch would knock them off, they dropped off the truck. The third boy landed in the clear but Roger and Herbert were crushed to death under the truck wheels.

10 DIE, 20 MISSING

Summer Storm Brings Sudden Death To City

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — It was a job that would go a sudden summer storm hithrough the day. Many areas of the street, still were not accessible.

"My God, man, there are houses up there in the middle of the street," yelled one rescue group to another at the height of the rampaging storm. "Don't get caught up there."

That street, a few hours before, was a pleasant residential district lined with modest homes. Today it looked as though a sudden tornado had swept down the hollow.

Small creeks that usually dry up mid-summer became roaring rivers that picked up buildings as though they were children's blocks and dashed them against each other.

The storm, in less than four hours, dumped more than five inches of rain on the area—a record for the city.

It came so suddenly that some persons still were in their homes as they were swept off their foundations.

Virtually all of the dead were drowning victims. One man stepped from his stalled car, was swept underneath it and drowned.

NO BIKINI FOR ST. JAMES' PARK

LONDON (A) — The sun came out in St. James' Park and waitress Irene Newton stripped off her jeans and two sweaters and started sunbathing in a makeshift bikini.

The bikini top was her bra, the bottom was a small yellow silk scarf that she wrapped around her.

Park keeper James Curtis told a court Wednesday Irene got up and started dancing, her yellow scarf flapping in the breeze.

He told her to get dressed. Instead, she ran away. Irene, 37, was fined £2 for behaving in a manner likely to offend public decency.

Debre Ready For Truce Talks
PARIS (Reuters) — French Premier Michel Debre said today France is ready to discuss a cease-fire at the Tunisian naval base of Bizerte.

End Hostilities Says U.S.
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States urged both France and Tunisia today to "end hostilities without delay" and reconcile peacefully their dispute over the French naval base at Bizerte.

Bid To Smash Tunisian Blockade Around Bizerte

BIZERTE — Radio Tunis said the French launched a co-ordinated attack by land, sea and air today against Tunisian barricades surrounding the French naval base at Bizerte.

The broadcast reported the city of Bizerte badly damaged in the attacks and its water and electricity supplies cut.

The French were silent on this latest report from the undeclared war aimed at forcing the French out of the big North African base.

Tunisian troops and civilian volunteers resisted the French attack "heroically," the radio said, and they suffered numerous dead and wounded.

Radio Tunis said French planes from the carrier Arromanches fired rockets in low-level attacks on the barricades. It adds that the planes were backed up by the big guns of three cruisers. This reported artillery barrage appeared to be a cover for thrusts Radio Tunis said were being made by French armored cars and tanks.

At least 100 Tunisians and three Frenchmen were killed and scores of others were wounded. Another 130 Tunisian soldiers were missing and French officials reported that their troops took more than 60 prisoners.

The clashes came when French troops left the base on sorties which French officials said were designed to lift the pressure on Bizerte.

STRAFED BY PLANES
As the troops moved out through the gates of the base, more civilians than soldiers French planes swooped low over roadblocks, strafing them with machine-gun fire.

The French announcement of the action said that "several" casualties from the fighting had been brought in. A hospital official also charged that French soldiers inside Bizerte had opened fire on Tunisian ambulances.

Dumping Of Cuban Sugar In Canada Raises Protest

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — A sugar refinery union here today protested by wire to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his cabinet that Cuban interests are dumping refined sugar on the Canadian market at 50 cents a hundredweight below Canadian prices.

The wire, signed by John F. Simonds, international representative and Ernest Ross, president of the 800-member Local 443 Bakery and Confectionary Workers' Union of America (CICA) said:

"We are informed that Cuban interests have made available for sale in Canada a large amount of refined sugar. We understand the sugar will be shipped to Montreal and that these Cuban interests are willing to pay all of duties, taxes, etc., and still offer the sugar for sale at 50 cents a 100 pounds below the Canadian market price.

"This discount is being offered regardless of price set by the Canadian refiners. This action may be indicative of a Communist-promoted move to disrupt the Canadian market and its continuance could conceivably result in the elimination of the Canadian sugar refining industry."

Hoffa Union Forced Out

CHICAGO (CP) — A Teamsters union local, given solid support by President James R. Hoffa and whose president once was accused by a Senate committee of running the "nation's most corrupt union," was ousted Wednesday as bargaining agent for Chicago's two major taxicab companies.

A reform union, headed by Dominic Abata, the local's first president who lost his job in 1952 to Joseph Cilincio, won the right to represent about 5,200 organized cab drivers and cab garage employees.

The results of the election, ordered and supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, were a resounding defeat for Hoffa. The Teamsters president made a special trip to Chicago from San Francisco earlier this week to campaign for the election of Gilmore's union, Teamsters Local 777.

JFK Begins Second Spell In Mood Of Confidence

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy today begins the second half of his first year in office confident of maintaining peace and yet ready to expand the massive military power of the United States to drive home to Soviet Premier Khrushchev there will be no yielding of ground in Berlin.

Assessing the balance of power between the West and Communists, Kennedy called in the National Security Council Wednesday and, informants said, got formal approval of his new defence plan to be unveiled before the public Tuesday night.

Still to be decided—and this is to be done by the National Security Council today—is how the reported plan to increase American military manpower, equipment and tactical air power is to be brought into full co-ordination with Western allies.

Worried about the state of the 15-country North Atlantic Alliance, Kennedy told a press conference yesterday he feels there is urgent need to strengthen the NATO consultative process. He will inform the allies of his new program as soon as the National Security Council completes its deliberations.

"We will try to work out procedures which will permit closer harmony in the actions of all the countries which bear responsibility as members of NATO," Kennedy said.

BAD TIMES AHEAD
The alliance, he added, "is going to move through very difficult periods in the coming months. If this alliance is going to move in concert, in my opinion we have to improve our consultation."

Kennedy was particularly critical of the length of time it took the allies to agree on the language of the Western reply to Khrushchev's Berlin demands.

"But I think we should realize, as anyone who has studied the history of alliances, how enormous a task it is to have 15 countries moving down the stream together over an issue which involves the security of them all. So we will inform them and then the Congress of what we plan to do."

Kennedy's reluctance to discuss details of his new plan before it is disclosed to the allies has tended to build up a feeling of tension and expectation among many Americans. Americans have been subjected to widespread speculation Kennedy may call up between two and 10 divisions of reserve soldiers to plug deficiencies created by the failure of allies to meet their full NATO commitments.

There also are reports Kennedy may declare a partial emergency, to arm himself with extra standby powers in the event Berlin boils up into a shooting war.

We'll Seek USSR Help — Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — The Katanga government said today it will not hesitate to call on the Soviet Union to help solve the Congolese crisis as "the United Nations and the free world cannot or will not find a reasonable and lasting solution."

Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo, addressing a press conference in the name of President Moïse Tshombe and the government, said Katanga proposed to send a delegation "as soon as possible" to Stanleyville for talks with Antoine Gizenga, leader of the Communist-backed regime there.

COURT REFUSES TO QUASH CHARGE ON KAMLOOPS MAN

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Magistrate D. M. MacDonald today rejected an application for withdrawal of a charge against W. J. Smith, a provincial government works superintendent and campaign manager for British Columbia highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi in past elections.

Smith is charged with possession of a stolen power saw and other goods worth more than $50. Magistrate MacDonald set July 27 for police court trial on the charge.

Withdrawal application was made by prosecutor D. R. Andrews who said the crown had insufficient evidence to proceed with the charge. Defence lawyer Peter Millward opposed the application.

He said the attorney-general's department instructed him to seek the withdrawal.

One Brief Only Expected In Trade Habits Probe

REGINA (CP) — Only one major brief is expected to be presented today to the Restrictive Trades Practices Commission hearing into the manufacture, distribution and sale of drugs. The provincial public health department will present a 10-page brief on behalf of the government.

However, even this brief is not expected to deal extensively with the drug trade. A government spokesman said Wednesday the government was given only 10 days notice to prepare the brief.

Teachers Lag In Space Age

VANCOUVER (CP) — School teachers are lagging behind the space age in the teaching of science, a university professor said Tuesday.

Teachers are insecure in their knowledge of science and stifled by curiosity by sticking to the textbook, said Dr. R. V. Broughton, a faculty member at the University of British Columbia's college of education.

Dr. Broughton said elementary teachers should be encouraged to take in-service training from highly-qualified science teachers.

He told a conference on elementary education that school authorities have downgraded science.

"Out of a total of 120 credits required for university entrance, only 10 are required in science, compared with 20 credits in English, 15 in social studies and 15 in mathematics," he said.

Dr. T. M. C. Taylor, head of the university's department of biology, said teachers are applying Victorian ideas to the teachings of biology.

Students come to the classroom filled with curiosity about nature, he said. But teachers stifle this curiosity with lack of enthusiasm and insight.

The Saskatchewan Pharmaceutical Association has indicated it will have members available at the hearing for questioning but will not present a brief.

The permanent commission, headed by C. Rhodes Smith, former Manitoba attorney-general, is conducting hearings across Canada. It just completed two days of hearings at Winnipeg and will start hearings in Edmonton next Monday, followed by hearings in Calgary July 27, Vancouver, July 31 and Victoria Aug. 3.

HEARINGS FOLLOW CITY
The hearings started after a three-year preliminary inquiry under the combines investigations act to determine whether high drug prices are the result of trade restraint or monopolistic practices.

The hearing left Winnipeg with solid recommendations from only one source—the Manitoba government. Its brief placed the blame for high drug prices on Canadian patent laws.

The province recommended revision of patent laws and a full-scale investigation into the pharmaceutical industry.

The government brief said the patent law allows manufacturers to control drug products to the point of eliminating price competition.

This in turn has led to excessive amounts being spent on promotion, judged to be the biggest single factor in making Canadian drug prices the highest in the world.

Cars of revenue freight loaded on Canadian railways totalled 70,436 in the week ended July 7, a 4.2-per-cent increase from last year's corresponding figure of 67,576.

Department store sales in the week ended July 8 showed increases of between five and seven per cent in Quebec, Ontario, Alberta and Manitoba compared with the same week in 1960. Sales dipped sharply in Saskatchewan, down 18.1 per cent, the Atlantic provinces and British Columbia.

Stocks of creamery butter in nine major Canadian cities totalled 78,895,000 pounds at July 13, or 18.4 per cent higher than last year's comparable figure of 66,450,000 pounds.

Rivals For New Party Leadership 'In Wraps'

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The two top rivals for the leadership of the New Party will be kept under wraps until they are nominated mid-way through the party's founding convention here.

The two contenders — Hazen Argue, national CCF leader, and Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan — are being given only one formal chance at the convention to make a public pitch for the leadership.

That will be when they accept nomination for the post.

Before that, both candidates — as leading CCF personalities — will have equal places of honor on the convention platform. They will also have equal opportunities to speak on any subject, but as delegates, not as leadership candidates.

The convention starts July 31, but leadership nominations and acceptance speeches will not take place until Aug. 2, with actual balloting scheduled for Aug. 3.

DECISION DELIBERATE
Party sources said the decision was taken deliberately to keep both candidates off the convention agenda until the nominations, despite protests from Mr. Argue.

The CCF leader is understood to have sought the right to report to the convention in its early stages on how his nine-man CCF-New Party group has been baring in Parliament.

This would have given him a chance to push his cause in the leadership race without a similar opportunity for Mr. Douglas.

Mr. Douglas has no official place on the agenda. As it stands now, the agenda calls for Mr. Argue's parliamentary report on the final day of the week-long convention — after election of the party leader.

DARKHORSE POSSIBLE
Convention planners expect a straight two-way contest between Mr. Argue and Mr. Douglas, although they admit a last-minute darkhorse could be nominated.

Each nomination is to be moved and seconded, thus giving each candidate two speeches on his behalf. The candidates themselves will also address the convention. The order of their acceptance speeches will be decided by a draw.

Mr. Argue has made no bones about his aspirations for the national leadership of the New Party, being founded on an object, but as delegates, not as leadership candidates.

While officially he may be kept off in the wings at the convention, he is certain to press his case among the 2,000 expected delegates in a personal, private way.

HEEDED CALL
Premier Douglas, on the other hand, only recently announced his availability for the leadership, bowing to a movement to draft him despite his earlier statements that his place is in Saskatchewan. He has said he won't actively campaign for the post, although his supporters feel he will put up a fight "in his own way."

He is regarded as the favorite contender for the leadership, but party supporters have not discounted Mr. Argue and his all-out campaign for the post.

They believe many delegates will come to the convention with no definite idea on how they will vote. If this is true, the uncommitted vote may have an important bearing on who is chosen.

TORONTO (CP) — Volume hit its lowest point since Nov. 24, 1960, as prices fell in morning trading today.

Volume was 279,000 shares compared with 398,000 at the same time yesterday. Steels and utilities contributed heavily to the general industrial decline. In the former, Algoma, Dominion Foundries and Steel, Atlas Steel Company and Dominion Steel and Coal were all off in the 1/4 to 1/2 range, while among utilities, B.C. Power, Bell Telephone, Gatliff Power, Shawinigan and CPR also lost ground in a similar range.

On index, Industrials dropped .25 to 583.44, golds .25 to 84.10 and western oils .08 to 90.65. Base metals rose .09 to 109.28. Goods and refining oils were somewhat ahead with Western A and B and Canada Packers B all up 1/4 to 1/2.

The base metals market gained despite the industrial decline. Gold trading was light with McIntyre Porcupine and Kerr Addison both up a few cents.

In light western oil trading, Bailey Selburn A, Great Plains and Hudson's Bay Oil all rose ground.

Magistrate Testifies — Could Not Hear Charges

A case of shoplifting in which a magistrate testified in his own court—and hence would not hear the case—was acquitted against Miss Lena Adelaide Nesbitt Tuesday.

Because Magistrate Donald M. White had, according to testimony given when he was sworn as a crown witness, seen the accused woman perform an act of theft, he stepped down from the bench in favor of Magistrate Aubrey Fisher, who heard the case.

The charge was laid against Miss Nesbitt shortly after she was apprehended outside the Shop - Easy supermarket at Shops Capri.

She pleaded not guilty, and at the end of the trial, Magistrate Fisher said:

REASONABLE DOUBT
"The Crown has made out a strong case against you, but as your counsel has pointed out, there is a reasonable doubt as to your intent in this matter. The witnesses who testified for the Crown have lessened that doubt, and this is an eminently serious charge."

"In your case, I am going to stretch a point because of the terrible consequences to a woman of your age, and let you go this time."

Witnesses for the Crown were Donald Blisken, a department head at Shop-Easy, and upon whose evidence the charge was first laid, and Magistrate White, who testified for the Crown as a rebuttal character witness in answer to three witnesses.

Miss Nesbitt's counsel had brought in.

POTATO SALAD INVOLVED
Involved in the case as the only exhibit was a 37-cent box of potato salad which the accused had been charged with stealing. Mr. Blisken said that he and the store manager made a point to watch Miss Nesbitt on the occasion in question—June 15.

On several grounds throughout the course of the trial, defence counsel Allen W. Blisland attempted to have the case dismissed. The first was on the grounds of proof of ownership; the second was hinged upon what section of the Criminal Code of Canada Miss Nesbitt should have been charged under. Lastly, and successfully, began.

Mr. Blisland brought out the ground of reasonable doubt. Called in as character witnesses on behalf of Miss Nesbitt were Dr. Robert Stanley Leach, recently retired minister of First United Church, where Miss Nesbitt attends; Miss Ethel Olivia McDowell, a friend of the accused, and Mrs. Gladys Ellen Herbert, of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

All testified to Miss Nesbitt's honesty and reliability.

In rebuttal, the Crown prosecutor, Corp. J. A. B. Riddell of the RCMP called Mr. Blisken to the stand for a second turn and Magistrate White.

In summing up, the defence said the offence was of the same nature as murder, arson, manslaughter, and the like, in that it was an indictable offence. If such an offence results in conviction, many jobs, memberships in fraternal orders, and the like, are closed.

Acquittal was brought in three hours after the trial began.

Early Pioneer Of Valley, Mrs. Ell Fort Gray Dies

Funeral services for a 92-year-old pioneer resident of Okanagan Centre were held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance on Monday at 10:30 a.m.

The services, for Mrs. Ella Fort Gray, recalled a life of service to the community extending back to 1907.

Her husband, T. A. Gray, who predeceased her in 1934, came from their home in Wisconsin to the newly-surveyed village in 1906. He came in search of a homestead and work of a different nature from that of a country storekeeper.

He became a leading hand in construction of the irrigation system which now waters that district, and the following year, in his occupation with planting (Sara) of Kent, Washington, and sales work, he sent for his three grandchildren and seven wife and family, two children great-grandchildren.

For some years before she Whitehead, Byron Cooney, Carcano to the Valley, Mrs. Gray, son Mitchell and Ernest Jetter had been an ardent member of the Christian Science movement.

When a society was formed in Kelowna, she became a charter member and was chosen as reader for several years in the church built here.

COMMUNITY WORK
As a member of the Okanagan Centre Women's Institute, she was involved also in all the community work undertaken by that body.

She became inactive at the age of 88, and became a member of Mrs. Florence Hanson's household in Kelowna.

Mrs. Gray died in Kelowna General Hospital on Thursday, July 13. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Len Seeman in her occupation with planting (Sara) of Kent, Washington, and sales work, he sent for his three grandchildren and seven wife and family, two children great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 10:30 a.m. on Monday at Day's Chapel of Remembrance. Interment was in Kelowna Cemetery.

Housecleaning Foresters Can Find No Pine Rust

Forestry officials in the Kelowna area of the Kamloops Forest District say that no trace of pine twist rust has been reported.

Householders were asked Monday of this week to keep watch for signs of the rust on local poplar or pine trees. Signs they were to look out for were leaves having yellowish spots or blotches, meaning that the deadly rust could be harboring there.

It kills yellow pine seedlings, and may attack lodgepole pine. The disease has been found in the Smithers and Terrace areas and it is suspected of being in the Abbotsford district.

Despite an intensive search throughout the province, little trace of the rust has been found except in the three points already mentioned.

Dr. John Bier, a forest pathologist at the University of British Columbia, said federal forest pathologists had great difficulty finding rust on "anything or anywhere."

B.C. pathologists believe the disease was brought from Europe on white poplar trees. The poplar is the alternate host, and the rust jumps from pine to poplar.

It was first discovered last year on white pine trees in the Smithers area, where the pine trees had been taken from Kamloops. To date, despite "a very thorough search," no trace has been found either locally or in the Kamloops district.

Had the disease been found, pathologists say that it would have been the greatest threat to B.C. trees within the last 40 years.

Washday Blues Can Be Sung Seven Days A Week

Coin laundries in Kelowna despite the recent ruling by the province. And apparently it does not.

The ruling that the laundries must close their doors on Sundays, is controlled by the Lord's Day Alliance Act.

Permission must be received from Attorney-General Robert Bonner for prosecution under this act.

He will not give it where laundromats are involved.

RULING
Referring to the Supreme Court ruling, Mr. Bonner said: "It was clear that the decision rested upon the facts presented to the court from the lower court in Ontario. The question of the operation of laundromats as a work of necessity under the exception of the Lord's Day Act was not raised."

TAKE IT FROM HERE

By ERIC GREEN
Getting there, they say, can be half the fun. But this is one old saw the world of Americans and Canadians, have made a farce of in their travel tracts.

All, or almost all, of us speak blithely and romantically of exploring on the upside or downside of the annual holiday. "Fables of finding the hidden, unknown and virgin plot after thousands of miles of trekking to set tentative steps on something new are dear to the travel weary hearts of this continent."

But who tells of the going and coming? No-one, because these hours or days are lost.

Super highways, freeways, turnpikes, and cloverleafed car-infested worlds of speed have taken over. As soon as the over-stuffed fumes of that metal and rubber beast noses lumberingly onto the asphalt or concrete, all impressions stop. The only remaining and vivid remembrance of this period is one of movement.

Monotonous, the whoosh and rush, the blur of tons of metal, literally, in many cases, entering into blacktopped eternity, dulls and clogs the finer senses. Observation ceases. Body flaccid, eyes stare and narrowed, the slave of the steering wheel pinpoints destination in his mind and "drives" to it.

Worst of all, the objector is powerless to do anything different. The superhighways are traps.

STATUS SEEKERS
Pretified, statue-like and inanimate drivers and car occupants become unidentifiable separate entities from their vehicles. Multitudes of individuals merging each other with a screaming. Individuals become a big hurry to live.

Imagine thousands of miles of highway travel turned into parking, partying people, enjoying themselves, turning the usually wanted hours into an indestructible memory. It's a pleasant thought, but likely not a reality.

Drivers these days are in too big a hurry to live.

Province 90 Years Agrowing

(Courier Correspondent)
VICTORIA — Ninety years ago today the Crown Colony of British Columbia became a province of Canada — one of the greatest events in B.C.'s history.

"After years of bickering this spectacular, far-reaching upheaval in politics came about with a surprising lack of confusion and incredible speed," says writer-historian James K. Nesbitt.

"It was only 28 years before that Fort Victoria had been founded. To have grown from a wilderness fort to a Canadian province in so short a time was truly astonishing."

A lot of people in B.C. didn't like the change, reported the Canadian Gazette, which was published in London.

"One can hardly offend an old British Columbia settler more seriously than by assuming him to be a Canadian," said the newspaper. "Canadians have been looked upon as intruders, wishing to reap the good things they have no share in producing."

The Victoria Colonist ran the headlines "The Birth of Liberty" and went on to say there were "manifestations of great rejoicing in the city."

"Bells were rung, guns fired, blue lights and roman candles burned and crackers snapped."

The Victoria Standard congratulated its readers on becoming Canadians and "having become allied with a people who will rule the northern end of the American continent for a thousand generations."

City Electrical Workers' Strike Grounds Are Weak

The City of Kelowna faces a strike by the members of its electrical staff. On Tuesday the union voted for strike action. The union may now strike any time during the next 90 days, after giving 48 hours notice.

This position follows a long series of events culminating in the conciliation board report. The report was not unanimous and the majority award was accepted by both the city and the union, but, subsequently the union reversed its decision, making the strike vote inevitable.

Mayor Parkinson has pointed out that the Council has endeavored to protect the interests of the public and, especially, of the taxpayers. The Council felt the majority award itself was both unfair and too excessive, but it did reluctantly accept it. The city did so because, while it would adversely affect the mill rate, the city did not wish a strike with its attendant disruptions of business.

However, as the Mayor pointed out, the demand of the union that the minority report should be accepted was just too much. To accede to this demand would have been entirely unfair to other city workers, and more important to the city taxpayers who would have to foot the bill.

The position of the City Council deserves sympathy. The easy thing for the council members to have done would have been to simply accept the union demands and let the taxpayers suffer. However, Council members rightly took the attitude they held a position of public trust and that their duty was to protect the taxpayers. As a result members have spent long hours in fruitless negotiations and have been forced into the position of having to decide whether or not a strike should be accepted. To allow a strike to happen is no easy decision. It is frequently an act of desperation taken with one's back driven to the wall and no further retreat possible. It would seem City Council is in just that position; to make further concession would be to betray the taxpayers of this city.

It is not as though the city electrical workers were poorly paid or even under paid. Last year city journeymen electricians had $6,900 in wages which with fringe benefits brought the cost of each journeyman to the city of $7,902 in one case and $7,553 in another. These figures work out to $658 a month in one case and $629 in the other. Certainly, these figures are high above the wages of the average person in this city, the person who in the final analysis provides the money to pay those wages. The city electrical workers are "the elite" of the wage earners in this city and, moreover, now earn more than equally skilled men of the same category employed by private industry.

The present hourly rate of journeymen electricians is $2.98. The majority conciliation board award suggested $3.15. This is roughly a 17-cents-an-hour increase, or, again roughly, just under six per cent. That the city accepted with reluctance should be obvious when it is understood that two other city staff contracts have been just concluded with only three per cent increases. But, despite the fact that they were being offered double the increase of two other unions, the union refused this offer. Journeymen electricians refused to accept an increase of between $400 and $500 a year and other classifications proportionately. The electrical workers' position in this regard is difficult to understand.

It would appear that the union, confident in the belief that the city cannot afford to allow a strike, is determined to milk the cow of every drop of milk. The union, apparently, is banking upon the inconvenience and financial loss, should there be no electricity, to force the city to capitulate. One wonders, however, if the union is rightly assessing public opinion and particularly that of industry.

It is quite conceivable that should there be a strike and electricity distribution stopped, that things would come to a standstill. There would be no electric stoves, no electric light, no washers, irons, toasters and goodness knows what else. Many plants would be affected and men laid off as a result. Probably there would be no radio, no TV and, perhaps, this newspaper would not be published. These things—loss of wages and inconvenience to the housewife—would probably not endear the strikers to those thus affected.

Frankly, it is difficult to believe that the city electrical workers will actually go on strike. They are normally decent people and they must appreciate that much of the life of this city rests in their hands. They are somewhat in the category of firemen, whose duty it is to protect the interests of the people of a city. It is one thing to vote for a strike and it is quite another to walk off the job. That is an irrevocable step, which should be taken only in a desperate situation. And the city electrical staff is certainly not in a desperate position.

"A nitroglycerin handler laughs at death until he unexpectedly falls in love."—From a movie review. Falling in love has stopped many a person from laughing—if not immediately, eventually.

Fool drivers have honked pedestrians into such a state of nervousness that if Gabriel were to cut loose suddenly with a loud blast of his horn, about 75 per cent of them would jump right out of their skins.

"Eating onions and garlic at every meal will make for a long life," says a chef. Maybe so, maybe not—but, anyway, it would certainly make for a lonesome life.

"You can acquire a more cheerful attitude by looking in a mirror at least once a day and laughing at yourself," says a psychologist. Nonsense. A person can't deceive himself with a hollow laugh.

Now and then you see a woman waddle by who is so goshawful fat that it would be difficult to imagine her being weightless even in orbit.

"Better prison care urged after death."—Headline. But wouldn't holding a person in prison after death be cruel and unusual treatment?

In many a case these days, what the arranger lacks of ruining a good tune, the song stylist finishes.

How to heck can we save for a rainy day... When taxes amount to a third of our pay.

Drought On Prairies Hits Prospects For Duck Shooting

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Drought on the Canadian Prairies—the continent's major breeding area for wild ducks—will put a severe crimp into North America's fall duck hunt this year.

Reduced bag limits are expected as experts report duckling survival on the parched Prairie region at the lowest point on record. Young ducks are dying by the thousands for lack of water.

Normally the 220,000-square-mile nesting area in Western Canada produces 70 per cent of North America's annual hatch of wild ducks.

F. H. (Hughie) Schultz, biologist with the Canadian Wildlife Service and one of the men responsible for setting Canadian waterfowl bag limits under the annual migratory bird regulations, says the situation looks serious.

"The weather has been as destructive for ducks as for crops," said Mr. Schultz today as he thumbed through reports from the Prairies.

The sprawling nesting area covers most of Southern Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Federal and provincial biologists now are working on new bag limits as a result of the drought.

The season may not be shortened but there will likely be a "substantial reduction in the limits" in most of the provinces, especially in the Prairies, British Columbia and Ontario, Mr. Schultz said.

Cuts in limits will also be considered by game authorities in the United States—where the limits already are below those set in Canada.

A combination of light snow last winter and little rain this spring produced little runoff into sloughs and potholes—the main nesting areas for waterfowl.

The result has been that "production of ducks in the area normally considered the continent's duck factory is the lowest it has been on record," Mr. Schultz reported.

In Southern Saskatchewan, "the heart of the duck country," an aerial survey indicated the population will be cut by 37 per cent from last year.

Some 3,253,800 of the spirited game birds such as mallards and pintails flew from that province into the sights of hunters across North America in 1960.

The nesting season in Alberta was 10 days behind normal this year with "serious results" and in Manitoba the nest 88in since 1952.

The number of ducks in Manitoba will be cut by 27 per cent from 1960 with both pintail and mallard showing "notable" declines.

Family Pulls Up Roots For Cariboo

70-MILE, B.C. (AP)—Lou

Emberley lived for 18 years in North Vancouver, raising a family, buying a home and trying to find satisfaction in his line of work.

Five years ago, with a modern home and a job as manager of a North Vancouver club, he and his family gave up on city life. They threw over the comforts and conveniences of the city, packed up in mid-winter and moved to the Cariboo to become proprietors of a 200-acre guest ranch.

The place is on the north shore of Green Lake, 11 miles east of this Cariboo Trail post some 200 miles north of Vancouver.

They found it run down and short of customers, but it had potential and it owned a small piece of the history of the storied Cariboo country. The Silver Spur ranch one was part of the biggest in the Cariboo until broken up and sold during the last 15 years.

CHEERFUL LABOR

Mr. Emberley, his son Glen, now 21, and his wife Evelyn, now 27, are now seven, was too young to help—with an enthusiasm sparked by the knowledge they were working for themselves. Today they operate a comfortable, rustic guest ranch accommodating about 30 persons.

Trail-riding guests explore portions of the old Graham spread as well as the trails followed by the old-timers lured to the region by the gold rush of the 1860s.

Silver Spur is one of several such ranches along the gravelled road leading east from 70-Mile, but it's one of the few in the whole of the Cariboo which exists solely as a guest ranch.

Its season runs from May 1 until the end of the hunting season Nov. 15, and its guests vary from groups of city youths on vacation to groups of hunters seeking ducks and geese in the fields, or deer and moose in the hills.

To the Emberleys, it's a symbol of their quest for freedom from the pressures of city life. "We just decided there must be something better than what we had in North Vancouver," said Mr. Emberley.

"Here, Sherri has to go 11 miles to school, and we have a lot of work to do yet. But we're free to do it for ourselves."

OTTAWA REPORT

How to Know Politics Better

(Patrick Nicholson is on vacation. His Guest Columnist today is Douglas M. Fisher, C.C.F. M.P. for Port Arthur, Ontario.)

Do you wish a better understanding of Canadian politics? If you do, a good starting place is to join a political party. Exact figures are hard to come by, but less than 300,000 Canadians are regular members of any political party. Organizers of each party are aware that party supporters — in terms of party votes at elections — are much more numerous than this; but Canadians are remarkably hesitant to declare their party or to support it with membership dollars.

Let us assume you are a hesitant Canadian in this sense, but you want to know politics through other avenues. Try this then. Write to each of the parties. All four have headquarters in Ottawa. The National Liberal Federation, the National Progressive Conservative Party, the Social Credit Association of Canada, and the New Party Headquarters. You do not need street addresses. Ask each party for copies of its constitution, its most recent party platform, and any leaflets supporting either of these, or telling you about the party leaders. When you get the material, read through it; compare the structure and aims of the party with each of the others.

Now comes the follow-up chore. Send a money-order for $5 to the Queen's Printer, Ottawa. Ask for a session's subscription to the Commons Hansard. Over the session, you will receive some 6,000 pages or reports of parliamentary debates. The daily reports, each complete in itself, will come regularly. DO NOT try to read them, either all or even in great part. Unless you have a tremendous amount of time, you will bog down.

Try scanning the reports, paying most attention to the questions and answers which preface almost every day's proceedings. Look for the speeches of the important people in the House; that is, the party leaders and the senior cabinet ministers. The latter look after the department of Finance, Trade and Commerce, and External Affairs. Keep the party's own principles and platform in mind as you follow these speeches. In a remarkably short time, you will begin to understand the nature of parliament and have opinions on how both parties and individuals perform.

When you imagine the speech or the questions, keep one qualification in mind. Sometimes a speech that reads well is so dully presented that it makes little impact. Sometimes a question that seems sharp is so dully or poorly put, that it gets no reaction. You will notice that some members are much more active than others. When you see a member's speech interrupted a great deal by questions or shouted interruptions, you can be sure that the speaker is likely to be outstanding in performance or reputation.

Watch for the reaction of ministers to questions or to opposition attacks. Is the minister vague or woolly in his reply? Does he give a soft answer, with information, or a harsh answer without detail?

Another good check on the quality of a minister can be made when his department's estimates are before the House. The debate is wide-open. Anyone can speak, as often as he wants. More government backbenchers are heard. You get a fuller range of pleading for help, praise for performance, condemnation for failure, and a scatter-gun kind of criticism. Some ministers can swarm the House or overwhelm the questioners with detail and politeness. Others slash back or ignore.

Now the final test chore on your understanding. Keep your daily newspaper for a week and, if possible, a file of the same week of another newspaper; preferably, try one like the Toronto Globe and Mail or the Winnipeg Tribune, which carry a lot of Ottawa news. Read through in a fairly light fashion what has transpired in the House, according to the Hansard record. Make your judgments on the quality and importance of the subjects, the speeches, and the value of the criticism and defences. Then compare these impressions with what has been carried in the press and how the reporters have interpreted the things you feel noteworthy.

At the end of this process, I would guarantee that you have a good insight into Canadian politics, the spirit and ideas of the parties, and the abilities of the major performers. Then you might consider, whether it is not time that you joined a political party, completing a responsibility of a good citizen. Of course, you may become discouraged, with parliament and with the politicians. As a politician, I would bear this risk. You might, however, feel differently about the reporters. You may feel as do many politicians, that they do not give you in the newspapers the real substance of what has taken place.

West Accused By Russia Of A 'Dangerous Game'

LONDON (CP)—Russia today declared its readiness for talks with the West but warned that any move against West Berlin could lead to "highly dangerous developments."

The Soviet news agency Tass quoted statements by Pravda on the heels of notes from the Western powers expressing willingness to negotiate but warning against West Berlin could lead to "highly dangerous developments."

The notes, published Tuesday by the United States, Britain and France, were followed by an announcement in Bonn that the Big Four foreign ministers will meet in Paris Aug. 5 and 6.

Moscow Radio said Tuesday night that in rejecting Soviet proposals for a German peace treaty the West is "aiding and abetting the sinister forces which seek to start another war."

It spoke of "unprecedented war hysteria" in the United States and claimed West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's call for firmness "can only be regarded as a call for war."

Royal Commissions On Education Under Fire

Saskatoon (CP)—The Reports on the Alberta and Canadian College of Teachers, B.C. royal commissions by Dr. S. C. T. Clarke of Edmonton and C. D. Ovans of Vancouver, respectively, were largely confined to reviews of certain sections.

Major criticism centred on some of the recommendations of the Manitoba commission during a discussion which featured papers on four recent royal commissions on education.

Dr. M. E. LaZerte of Edmonton, himself a one-man commission for the Prince Edward Island study, said he was "a bit dismayed" at some of the implications of the Manitoba report.

He said the federation is against province-wide negotiations of teacher salaries as the report had suggested, unless such negotiations are only to be in the form of recommendations.

Dr. Clarke, executive secretary of the Alberta Teachers' Association, said the Cameron commission unequivocally endorsed the "no wage hint" approach to meeting the teaching situation: high entrance requirements, four years of teacher education and adequate pay.

Agnes MacDonald of Winnipeg, former president of the Manitoba Teachers' Society, took issue with the Manitoba commission on two main points.

For statements and recommendations made with no evidence of research or argument; attitude of distrust for the public school teacher, however good, and of something akin to contempt for the elementary teacher, however qualified and competent.

She said teachers were grateful to have been consulted, but she said many basic improvements for which they had fought were recommended.

Miss MacDonald said the commission's opinion that anyone who teaches grades one to eight is "hardly worthy of respect" is evident throughout the report.

tion to stand by the city. "It is to be hoped," said Mayor Willy Brandt's city government, "that the Soviet Union pays attention to the serious tone of the notes and to the determination of the West to protect its rights."

Rival political parties in West Germany united with the government in supporting the allies' stand that a German peace treaty must be preceded by free elections.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker of Canada said the U.S. note shows the willingness of the United States and the Western world to do everything possible through negotiation.

RAIN VITAL

Prince George Fire Hazard Rises At An Alarming Rate

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—weekend is rapidly being wiped out. The fire hazard is rising at an alarming rate in the Prince George district, forest service officials said Tuesday.

They said only rain could reduce the fire threat resulting from the prolonged hot spell.

The most serious danger is that from a widespread outbreak of "sleepers," small fires touched off by lightning which smoulder for several days before spreading.

Timber crews totalling 158 men are battling 24 blazes in the huge forest district.

One is a small but troublesome blaze burning in a stand of cedar in the centre of a huge tract of saleable fir and spruce.

In the Vancouver forest district, protection officer Don Owen said the dampening effect of cool and rainy weather last week has helped to control the fires.

There were 277 fires reported throughout the province.

Dief's NWT Trip Shaping Up As Election Campaign

YELLOWKNIFE, N. W. T. (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker's trip to the Canadian north appears to be shaping up here today as a pre-election tour of the Northwest Territories and the Yukon.

Some 200 persons were at the Yellowknife airport when Mr. and Mrs. Diefenbaker arrived from Ottawa after brief stops at Prince Albert and Uranium City, Sask.

At both Yellowknife and Uranium City, where he also was met by a large crowd, Mr. Diefenbaker was greeted with enthusiastic cheers, paying particular attention to the children.

The prime minister was introduced to some 200 persons who gathered in the high school in Uranium City at a brief informal function. He said he wanted to meet them all.

Mr. Diefenbaker was to attend a meeting today of the Yellowknife Progressive Conservative Association. He then was to appear at a public reception and tour this rich gold-mining community before leaving on a fishing trip to Snare River, some 90 miles north.

NEW YORK (AP)—United Nuclear Corporation Tuesday announced development of "a bombless atomic bomb."

The company said the new device, a fast-bursting reactor, produces radiation—but not heat or blast—comparable to that of a nuclear explosion.

The device will permit testing of the radiation effects of an atomic blast on various materials without the atomic detonation and also enable scientists to determine accurately how soon after an atomic blast human beings could return to the area, United Nuclear said.

Is Wisdom A Prerogative Of Age

LINDA FREEMAN

DAVID HOYE

MARGARET BRUCE

LYNN STEWART

By DOUG PECK
Courier Staff Reporter

Legend has it that only the old have wisdom. But high school students of today, living as they do in a world of highly efficient communications systems, of good schools, and of educational programs which encourage discussion of current events, also possess wisdom, of a sort hardly dreamed of 25 years ago.

The above are all 17-year-old grade 12 graduates from Vernon Senior High School; all scholarship winners, and all bound for the UBC next fall. They were asked the following questions, covering local and world affairs. Judge for yourselves whether they are talking good sense, if sometimes thought-provoking.

Question 1: What do you think of the proposal to make a $1,700,000 renovation of the Jubilee Hospital in Vernon.

Question 2: What have you to say about civil defence?

Question 3: If you had the power to change one element in the high school system what would that be?

Question 4: What do you think of Canada's position in world affairs?

Question 5: Which country is the greatest menace to world peace?

Question 6: What do you think of the suggestion for a junior college in the Okanagan-Mainline region?

Question 7: What do you think of the idea to turn three blocks of Barnard Avenue into a shopping mall?

LINDA FREEMAN
Question 1: "I feel the renovation is very necessary because of the desperate need. I feel the various districts concerned should pay in ratio according to the number of patients from each area who use the hospital. The hospital by-law should take precedence over one to raise money for a municipal airport."

Question 2: "The whole question of Civil Defence revolves around the dispute concerning what type of weapon will be employed. If it will be a 'bomber' war than civil defence measures now seem both necessary and important. Personally I feel that Canadian expenditure on Civil Defence is an exorbitant force the U.S.A., is primarily using her resources to command and supply Canada with necessary defence measures along her northern boundaries."

Question 3: "The most unfortunate factor in our high schools is the lack of interest in learning. Billions of dollars are wasted on producing an educationally bankrupt youth. Instead students who are not working up to their capabilities and are obviously seawarming, should be asked to leave. I feel that a great number of students should be turned out of high school. Only through such desperate measures can students be awakened up to the opportunity that school presents them."

Question 4: "I feel the renovation is very necessary because of the desperate need. I feel the various districts concerned should pay in ratio according to the number of patients from each area who use the hospital. The hospital by-law should take precedence over one to raise money for a municipal airport."

KELOWNA COMPARISON
Question 7: "Kelowna has its Shops Capri, Penticon, its Plaza, and Vernon a main

MARGARET BRUCE
Question 1: "The proposed hospital by-law should come first. Cost sharing by districts to finance the renovation should be computed on a population basis. And when this is decided

Vernon's share should be decreased by the amount still owed by the city on the present building."

Question 2: "I have no definite opinion here. Although I have little confidence that Civil Defence will be of any really tremendous value if there ever was a missile attack, yet we should spare no efforts in trying to be prepared."

Question 3: "I would completely change the curriculum. The general program is designed for students who aren't going on with their education."

It offers simple courses which are an easy way for lazy students to graduate from high school. The whole level of the university program is dragged down by the more than 50 per cent of students who are taking university because they want to keep the door open to university or because they don't want to appear dumb by taking general program.

Students must choose in grade nine which program they want to follow. What I suggest is that the decision of what program to follow should be made in grade 10. I would cut out commercial courses from high school. I would make general program courses broader in scope, and make university courses more suited to those going on to university."

APARTHEID STAND
Question 4: "I would simply like to say I don't like Mr. Diefenbaker's stand on apartheid. I think he is being slightly impractical in condemning South Africa when there is so much racial prejudice in Canada. I don't think he was being very brave and admirable in not standing for this sort of thing in the Commonwealth. I think he was trying to shirk a responsibility."

Question 5: No answer.
Question 6: "If an institute of higher learning is to be built in Vernon it should be of such nature that it would take considerable strain from the inadequate facilities at the UBC. The best thing to build would be a junior college. It would save considerable expense for interior students. Another solution would be to transplant one or two faculties from UBC to Vernon or the Okanagan such as the Department of Agriculture and Forestry."

Question 7: "A shopping mall is not practical. If the city were bigger and had more shopping area it might be. But the suggested mall would block placed by more specialized, college. What we need is a vocational school. Let the academically minded students attend the high school. Let the students who have the chance for continued education. But why are academics always stressed? Only a minority have this kind of capability. We need also plumbers, carpenters, welders, farmers, all subjects. Lack of interest is the greatest fault of our present school system. Students not academically inclined could enter vocations."

$500 Gift For School

VERNON (Staff)—A cheque for $500 has been presented to work in speech education. The money, along with donations from the Elks Lodge here and another cheque from "Interested Vernon citizens", will go towards building the activity room at the new "my school" for Mentally Retarded Children on the West Vernon school grounds, now under construction.

Mrs. Iverson has been a school teacher in B.C. for many years and is known for her work in speech education.

The presentation was made in memory of the late Mr. Noble Rutherford a resident in the city around 1900, by Mrs. Louise Iverson L.R.S.M., of Kelowna, daughter of Mr. Rutherford.

Position Has Deteriorated

Question 4: "Canada's position in world affairs has deteriorated rapidly since the Hon. Lester Pearson left Canadian foreign affairs. In attempting to follow the prescribed 'mediation' and 'maintain respect at all costs' program, Canada has been officially tagged pro-West and has lost the excellent position she has striven so hard to maintain. My main criticism of present Canadian foreign affairs then is lack of commitment and lack of strength in standing for those things which Canada supposedly believes in."

Question 5: "At present Russia is the greater menace to world peace but in a very short while it seems obvious that China will provide a greater threat, to be honest, the United States is every bit as grave a threat to world peace in her recent action in Cuba. Crisis after crisis has been a result recently of the hatred and suspicion on both sides."

It seems ridiculous that such an organization as NATO exists outside of the United Nations. They should throw their energies into making such an organization as NATO more successful."

Question 6: "The current wall is that such a college would give an enormous boost to Vernon. Until B.C. is capable of building and maintaining a

Possibility Of Aerial Attack

Question 2: "Civil Defence is based on the possibility of aerial attack, so that as there are armed, potential aggressors in the world we must be prepared to suffer the least possible losses at their hands. However, with the exception of those in prime target cities there is little that the individual can do, and little he should be expected to do in time of peace. The full amount for optimum Civil Defence must be given, without quibbling."

Question 3: "The brightest scholars in any field should get particular attention. This is already done to a certain extent, however, classes are large and little individual attention is possible. Bright scholars should be put into small classes and then given all the individual stimulation possible."

Question 4: "If our efforts in the future equal those in the past we will continue to take a prominent position in world need a junior college. A voca-

GREATER MENACE

Question 5: "Russia is the greater menace to world peace. I feel Russia's participation in major wars gives it added potential power as an aggressor. As for NATO, I do not feel that sheer amassing of military strength will relieve the threat of atomic war."

And I don't think more summit meetings are the answer. I feel the real answer to world peace lies in continued support of the United Nations."

Birmingham Women Phone For Menus, Meals, Manners

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD
Special London Eng.
Correspondent to The Courier

BIRMINGHAM — Warwickshire — Housewives of Birmingham can now turn to the post office telephone service to solve all their worries about meals, menus and manners. The service gives the housewife a complete menu for the day's meals, and a full recipe for one item — for the main course. The menu and recipes are being chosen by the British Farm Produce Council, and will be varied according to the weather and the price variations of the foods involved. They will be changed each day, and will include such items as devilled pork chops, broiled fillets of plaice and breaded veal chops.

This is a new telephone service which has been started by the Post — master — General, Reginald Bevins. It has had its inauguration in Birmingham.

Courage Is Requisite If Woman To Dress "In Style"

By JOANNA CORROU
(Courier Staff)

Three young ladies were enjoying their beverage in a well-known Kelowna restaurant recently, and one of them was striving and sweating to make her skirt behave. The skirt, however, faithful to the fashion, was extremely short, in spite of the dexterous efforts and pullings, didn't obey the lady's wishes.

Suddenly, out of the dear blue, a well-groomed middle-aged gentleman, who was diverted by the scene, got up and approached the young lady.

"Excuse my butting in," he said, "but why do you wear your skirts so short?"

The young lady lowered her eyes, flushed, became disconcerted, murmured something that wasn't intelligible and made another embarrassed effort to pull down the hem of her dress.

"I get the impression you misunderstood me, Miss," the gentleman continued. "The short dress didn't offend my morals. I'm an admirer of beauty and your knees deserve admiration. But the question arises: If you yourself start to revolt against fashion, as soon as you sit down, why did you accept it in the first place?"

NO ANSWER

The young woman stared at him, astonished, unable to find an answer.

Sometimes it takes more courage for a woman to obey fashion, than it takes heart and sense to adapt it to her personality. And if a woman lacks the required courage, she better stay "old-fashioned!"

Enderby Kingdom Hall Scene Of Valley Wedding

The Enderby Kingdom Hall was beautifully decorated in pastel colors of white, pink and a touch of blue for the marriage recently of Jeannette June Kral, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kral of Enderby, to Gerald August Henschell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Henschell of Salmon Arm.

The couple were joined in marriage by Mr. Nicholas Poy-swich of Vernon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown with a very full floor length skirt of tulle over pol de sol. The bodice was of clipped chantilly lace, with a neckline of scalloped lace. The mid-ribs of the lovely gown was of pol de sol, and there was a tulle bustline of scalloped lace, and sleeves of petit point.

Her headpiece, a coronet of pearls and crystal beads with a centre teardrop bead, matched a beautiful teardrop necklace given by her husband — to-be.

The necklace itself was of a single teardrop on a chain, which set off an exquisite chupel — length veil.

RED ROSE

The costume was enhanced by the bouquet, which was carried, a lovely spray of deep red sweetheart roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Linda Reller, a cousin of the bride, of Enderby.

Bridesmaids Miss Ellen Henschell, a sister of the groom, and Miss Diana Amoroso of Vernon, wore blue nylon organ-dy over taffeta full skirts with cummerbunds and with portrait collars. They carried white accessories and flowers.

Two senior flower girls, Miss Leanna Reller, a cousin of the bride from Enderby, and Miss Bernice Henschell, a sister of the groom, from Salmon Arm, wore pink flannel full skirts, waistband belts of white velvet, with pink headresses trimmed with white sparkle net. They carried white accessories

CALGARY (CP)—The coach and general manager of Calgary Stampede will be looking for trade material Friday night at the Hamilton Tiger Cat.

Edmonton Eskimo exhibition game in Edmonton.

Bobby Dobbs and Jim Finks hope to obtain a Canadian player for Clare Exelby, who wants to play in Hamilton or Toronto. Calgary holds rights to the defensive halfback.

The Eskimo-Tiger Cat game will be their only chance to see Hamilton before the opening of the Canadian Football League season.

Finks said Wednesday Hamilton has the "inside track" on an Exelby deal. Toronto coach Lou Agase also has offered a selection of players for Exelby, but Finks said he has no scouting line on them and so far has not obtained permission to visit an Argonaut practice.

Smith, Adam Pace Riders' Fixture

SASKATOON (CP)—Halfback Ray Smith and Canadian quarterback Ron Adam spearheaded Whites to a 12-7 victory over Greens in a Saskatchewan Roughriders inter-squad football game here Wednesday night before 4,000 fans.

The same two squads will clash again next Monday in Regina, shortly before the Western Football Conference club heads for an exhibition game in Seattle against B.C. Lions.

Both Whites' touchdowns came off explosive plays. Smith a second year halfback from UCLA, crashed 65 yards over right tackle for the decisive score after Adam, who shared quarterback duties with hold-over Bob Placek, earlier hit and Bobby Renn with a 45-yard pass in the end zone.

Whites, handled by assistant coach Len Younce, opened scoring in the second quarter, and after Ray Purdin had carried the length of the field for a Greens' touchdown on the first play of the second half, wrapped up the victory with a third-quarter touchdown on their own.

Three Athletes Entered In Canada's Hall Of Fame

TORONTO (CP)—Three outstanding athletes of another era, two men and a woman, today were admitted to Canada's sports Hall of Fame at the Canadian National Exhibition.

The selection committee, made up of sports columnists and sports editors from each province, chose badminton player Mrs. Dorothy Walton, native of Swift Current, Sask., now living in Toronto; lacrosse player Billy Fitzgerald of St. Catharines, Ont., and Lt.-Col. Daniel A. MacKinnon of Charlottetown, harness horse racing trainer and driver.

Nominators were asked to name three choices and votes were computed on a 3-2-1 basis. Point-totals were not announced. Mrs. Walton, a top-flight player in Saskatchewan until she moved east in 1932, won just about every badminton title in the country. She topped the list in 1935 when she won the All-England title, emblematic of the world amateur championship.

After leaving active sports competition, Mrs. Walton has been a great interest in public affairs. In 1955 she was president of the Canadian Women's Association senior group, referred in the O.A. and after the First World War. He helped rebuild the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior group, referred in the O.A. and after the First World War. He coached for a time in the United States.

Top 3 Squads Score Wins In PCL

The top three teams in the Pacific Coast Baseball League—Tacoma Giants, Seattle Rainiers and Vancouver Mounties, all scored comparatively easy victories Wednesday night.

Tacoma downed San Diego Padres 9-5 to maintain a two-game lead over second-place Seattle. The Rainiers defeated Spokane Indians and former major league pitcher Don Newcombe 7-5.

A three-run homer by third baseman Ed Charles and five-hit pitching by George Brunet paced Vancouver to a 5-1 win over Portland Beavers. It was Charles' first home since April 27th.

Vancouver still trails Tacoma by three games.

The other game played Wednesday saw last-place Salt Lake City Bees edge Hawaii Islanders 5-4 after overcoming a 4-0 first inning deficit.

Max Alvis had a big hand in the Bees' win, hitting a two-run homer.

At Vancouver, Charles' homer came in the sixth inning when the Mounties scored four times to wrap up their win. Prior to Charles' homer, Howie Goss had streaked home on a squeeze bunt—a third safe bunt of the inning by the winners.

All teams are scheduled tonight.

Pennask Lake Road Opening Set Sunday

Official opening of the Pennask Lake Road, via Peachland, is set for Sunday, July 23.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony will be at the start of the new road some 4 miles from Pennask Lake, at 9 a.m.

It is a two hour trip in from Kelowna so parties should get away by 7 a.m.

A fishing derby is planned for Saturday and Sunday. Road is dry and suitable for all but the modern low clearance cars.

Fishermen are asked to take their boat as there are only 12 boats for rent at the lake.

The parking and camping sites in the Park Reserve at the lake are completed.

Gilchrist Signs 5-Year Contract With Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Cookie Gilchrist today signed five one-year contracts with Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern football conference. Financial terms were not announced.

Managing director Lew Hayman said the contracts mean that the two-way player "can only play out his option after five years."

"The signing of the contracts means simply that Cookie has signed five one-year standard contracts with the Argonaut football club," Hayman added. "He must make the team each year the same as any other player."

Gilchrist, who earlier declined to sign a contract for 1961 and who decided to play out his option, said after today's signing that he will not dress when Argonauts meet British Columbia Lions in an exhibition game here Thursday night. At 242 pounds he said he is about 12 pounds over his playing weight. Signing of the five one-year contracts, believed to be the longest in Canadian pro football, ended three weeks of negotiation.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Barbara Ann Scott, the Ottawa girl who became Olympic and world figure-skating queen, was awarded the Lou Marsh memorial trophy for the first time 15 years ago today. Chosen as Canada's outstanding sports competitor of 1945, she was the first woman to win the award which honors the memory of a noted sports editor of the Toronto Star. Barbara again won the trophy for 1947 and 1948, the latter being the year of her Olympic triumph.

End To TCA Dispute Nears At End Of Marathon Talks

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—A marathon negotiating session combined with a new company offer apparently brought a settlement closer today in a threatened strike of 800 Trans-Canada Air Line flight attendants.

The strike is scheduled to start at one minute past midnight tonight. TCA has said it plans to maintain its schedules if the strike takes place.

Despite the reported progress toward settlement of the long dispute, however, union sources indicated that there still is a considerable gap between the union stand and the latest company offer.

But special federal mediator Remi Duquette was reported to feel confident that today's session between TCA and the Canadian Air Line Flight Attendants Association (CLC) can bridge that gap before the strike deadline expires.

TALKS STRENUOUS

Wednesday's long session, which broke up minutes before midnight, left both company and union negotiators showing the strain and looking tired. Although no official statement was issued after the session by either side, sources close to the talks said it marked the best give and take of the entire negotiations.

The new company offer was presented shortly after the two groups met in the morning.

The session was adjourned immediately for two hours so the union could consider the proposal in private.

No details on the new offer were made public, but it was reported to deal primarily with improvements in working conditions as well as to offer higher salary increases than were contained in earlier company proposals.

Prince George Jaycees To Solve Bearskin Poser

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — In Central British Columbia and the Yukon, Prince George Jaycees Wednesday offered to solve the Canadian Army's bearskin shortage. The group made the offer after an army spokesman said industry has been asked to supply nylon fur for bushy-sporting Canadian regiments because of a shortage of genuine bear skins. "We were just flabbergasted when we heard the news," said by Canada's Royal 22nd regt. Ernie Hill, president of the regt. The Canadian Guards' Junior Chambers of Commerce regiment and four militia units.

BRITISH BRIEFS

DIDN'T MAKE IT GREENOCK, Scotland (CP) — Author Sir Compton Mackenzie, scheduled to sail from here June 28 to receive an honorary degree at St. Francis Xavier University at Antigonish, N.S., was an 11th-hour absentee owing to an attack of sciatica.

ROYAL APPOINTMENT LONDON (CP) — Air Vice-Marshal Sidney Nelson, principal medical officer to RAF Bomber Command since 1959, has been appointed an honorary physician to the Queen.

STORE BANDITS CARDIFF, Wales (CP) — A meeting of Welsh tobacco shop proprietors called for stiffer penalties against store bandits, and demanded compensation for victims. "The time has come to end this violence," said one delegate.

RARE OFFENCE BRIDGEND, Wales (CP) — A 22-year-old miner here was bound over for 12 months under its history.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 1 1 1
Dble. Pass 5 4 Dble.

Opening lead—two of clubs. There are many inferences you can draw from the bidding, if you pay close attention to what goes on and don't restrict your outlook only to the cards you see.

For example, here is a hand played by Harry Fishbein, New York star, in a pair tournament. He held the South cards; North opened a diamond and East overcalled a heart.

Fishbein felt he lacked the values for a bid of two clubs at this point, so he passed. West jumped right to four hearts, partly for preemptive reasons and partly in the hope of making that contract if his partner had the right hand. North was confident that his side could play the hand successfully in one of his three suits, but thought that rather than take a blind shot at four spades or five clubs it would be safer to double, which he did.

When the double came to Fishbein, he decided not to stand for it even though he held considerably more values than had been indicated by his previous pass. He thought the contract would be beaten, all right, but Fishbein also realized that North was not doubling on heart length or strength.

The vigorous raise in hearts by West indicated that North had at most one heart, and possibly none, especially since Fishbein was looking at three hearts in his own hand. This, in turn, led him to the further conclusion that North was well-heeled with high cards in the other three suits, as well as length in them.

So Fishbein bid five clubs, apparently from out of the blue. West's double was from hunger, of course, and he eventually had cause to regret it. Fishbein made six.

He won the club lead in his hand, ruffed a heart, played a spade to the ace, ruffed a heart, and led a spade to the queen and trumped his last heart. After ruffing the ten of spades, he drew trumps and conceded a diamond to the opponents to bring home a score of 950 points.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Except for some tendencies toward extravagance, which you could regret later, this day's outlook is generally excellent. Personal relationships and travel will be governed by especially good influences and creative interests are, also, favored.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope presages fine personal relationships during the next year, with the possible exception of brief stress periods during November and February — which could be your fault. Your chart indicates — not tendencies toward anxiety and emotionalism during those periods, if you don't use self-control, you could spoil what might be otherwise a delightful picture of happy home, family and social life. Be alert, therefore.

Where job and financial matters are concerned, do not expect too much between now and October, but a good cycle, beginning then, should continue well into 1962. Stellar influences during August and September will be generous toward travel and sentimental interests.

REFUGEES WANT IN

Crowds of refugees from Communist East Germany jam the doorway into a registration room in a West Berlin reception camp. A record flow of some 4,000 came into West Berlin over the past weekend, causing a registration rush. Long lines had to wait in the rain for a chance to register.

Financial Freeze Fears Crimp London Exchange

LONDON (Reuters) — Financial quarters today forecast action to freeze dividends and government's awaited austerity wages as speculation about the plans reached a new peak. The predictions prompted an extremely cautious attitude by buyers on the London Stock Exchange. Prices of many shares fell again after a rally Tuesday.

Dealers said investors were reviewing their portfolios and considering purchase of shares with a reasonably high yield. But government securities with returns of even more than 6½ per cent were attracting little attention. Dealers said this was because people were waiting to see whether treasury chief Selwyn Lloyd will make any move to raise the bank rate now at five per cent.

The government's finance bill, giving constitutional sanction to the April budget, becomes law tonight and vests Prime Minister Macmillan's administration with new powers to deal with current pressure on Britain's economy.

The new powers enable Lloyd to impose a 10-per-cent surcharge on all existing customs and excise duties and sales tax.

TO PAY MORE

It is expected to be applied as one of the austerity measures Lloyd is due to announce next Tuesday, making Britons pay more for alcoholic drink, tobacco and a wide range of articles subject to purchase tax.

Another regulation — considered less likely to be used — authorizes Lloyd to introduce a payroll tax aimed to increase production and exports through a more economic use of labor.

It would penalize employers four shillings (56 cents) weekly per employee for clinging in slacktimes to manpower which could go to other firms suffering from a labor shortage.

The forthcoming government austerity are designed primarily to increase export earnings and cut imports. Exports are achieving record levels but still fall considerably short of the amount Britain has to pay for what she imports from abroad.

Another of the government's chief concerns is to contain the level of Britain's overseas spending in all directions — including the costs of garrisons abroad.

Personal Loans Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Personal loans by chartered banks took another big jump in May, rising by $29,000,000 to $920,000,000, the Bank of Canada reported today in its monthly summary. A year earlier, personal loans outstanding stood at $62,000,000.

During April, there was a less-than-normal seasonal increase in consumer credit owed to installment finance companies, small loan companies and department stores.

Total consumer debt in these fields rose by $3,000,000 during April to $1,665,000,000 at month end. This compared with $1,599,000,000 on April 30, 1960.

First Aid Kit As Eskimo Standard Baggage Urged

By JAMES WHELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.
FORT SIMPSON, N.W.T. (CP) — A first aid kit as a standard accessory on some arctic Eskimo dogsleds was proposed Tuesday as part of a territories-wide health services plan placed before the summer session of the Northwest Territories Council.

Dr. John Willis, chief of the northern health division of the national health department's Indian and northern health services branch, outlined the plan to the nine-man council. Part of a proposed five-year financial agreement between the federal and N.W.T. governments, the plan aims its $3,000,000 firepower at 25 public health service and treatment service targets.

Most of the targets are those aimed at by medical plans in southern Canada, but hitting some of the bulls' eyes—a complete pre-school health program and premarital examination clinics—could make northern health service workers the most advanced marksmen in Canadian public health.

OFFER INCENTIVE

The plan proposes a fee-for-service incentive to lure good doctors and dentists into the north. Proposed pay scales were based on the Swift Current, Sask., health insurance plan begun in 1946. They then were increased in proportion to northern costs of living which may range from about 1.25 times the average for southern Canadian communities to as much as 1.9 at Cambridge Bay.

The council approved the plan in principle Tuesday, but separate approval in principle of the doctor-dentist incentive program must be sought from the federal government.

A 108-page report outlining the proposed program says it always has been difficult to obtain the services of well-trained and experienced physicians in the north and in recent years it has been impossible to obtain dentists.

The report described how far off target the health services arrow still was.

From 15 to 25 per cent of Indian and Eskimo infants born alive die before they reach the age of one year and more than half of the Eskimo infants are born without prenatal care or delivery by a nurse or a physician.

Some school children, notably in the primary schools of Hay River and Yellowknife, do not have public health nursing care. The school health program common in southern Canada does not exist in these municipal districts.

The incidence of venereal disease is higher in the southern Mackenzie district than in the provinces. There is no regular inspection of eating places and no regular inspection of the sanitation of camps, water supplies or sewage disposal in the northern communities.

LIVE IN SQUALOR

A high percentage of the Indians and Eskimos live in comparable squalor in small, overcrowded housing usually devoid of sanitary facilities and sometimes difficult to heat.

There are good grounds to suspect there is a high incidence of defects of vision and hearing. There is a high incidence of dental defects.

But Dr. Willis said the picture is much brighter than it was 10 years ago. A few years ago some citizens were fortunate if they saw a physician and dentist for a few minutes once a year.

The report says if an adequate public health program were instituted, the high incidence of remedial defects, hearing, vision, dental defects, gynecological disorders, skin disease, hernia, and orthopedic defects would result in an increased demand for medical and dental attention and an increase in hospitalization, the extent of which is hard even to guess.

In the proposed plan the nursing stations, 15 of which exist in the territories' 30 health districts, would remain the backbone of health care in sparsely settled regions and four new ones would be built.

The average nursing station costs from $75,000 to $150,000 depending on location and serves from 200 to 1,000 people.

NURSE HEADS STAFF

A registered nurse heads the staff of a certified nursing assistant, a native fireman, a laborer and a housemaid. There may also be a second registered nurse working in the field from the nursing station, which has radio or mail service with the south and other stations.

Proposed construction includes an $850,000 hospital at Prosser Bay, five health stations, four staff residences and two health centres. The territories now has 12 hospitals and 19 health stations and clinics besides the 15 nursing stations.

Working among the many nomadic groups of Eskimos more than 50 miles from nursing stations, a part time health worker would be trained in elementary hygiene sanitation, first aid home nursing and basic English.

The workers' training equipment is being supplied by the federal government.

GOOD FISHING

VALLEYFIELD, Que. (CP) — Lake St. Francis near this town southwest of Montreal is said this year to have a plentiful supply of muskellunge.

ment and supplies, including refresher courses when in a settlement, would be paid for by the government as well as a stipend of about $50 a month. This plan already has been successfully tried among native populations in Alaska, Greenland and South America.

New "Belgo" Building Offers Wide Variety

Situated on the main Rutland road is a brand new building, trading under the name of "Belgo". Mr. Alec Jurassovich is the general owner. Having spent most of his childhood days in this area he feels that he is well acquainted with the needs and problems of the community.

Alec was born near Vienna, Austria, but came to Canada as a youngster, and attended school in Ellison, later moving to the Kelowna district.

He has always been interested in radio and electricity, and studied these by correspondence after leaving school. His charming wife, Clara, is also a native of the district. The couple have four children.

Alec's right hand man is his brother, Ed Jurassovich. His field of work is wiring, plumbing and heating.

Alec's first store was located in the Kelgo. It was originally a service station opened in September, 1946. As business increased so did the size of the building, until finally Alec built a large store, 70x30, in the heart of Rutland. The new store held its gala opening last month. Large numbers of door prizes were given away at that time, and everyone enjoyed free popples and soft drinks.

Alec sells many diversified lines of major and small appliances. You can choose from name brands such as McChlavy, Easy, Electrolux, Fairbanks-Morse, Tappan, Beatty, and R.C.A. Victor, to name a few. Alec also sells several popular lines of cameras and photographic equipment, irrigation equipment, and even a line of outdoor motors and boats.

The store will service any of the merchandise that is purchased there. Alec feels that business is very satisfactory, which is a tribute to his far-sighted business sense. He issues a cordial invitation to all his friends and neighbours, and new comers, to drop in and see him at his fine new store.
